INFORMED CONSENT DOCUMENT FOR HYALURONIC ACID IMPLANTS

In observance of Act 41/2002, regulating patient's autonomy and rights and duties concerning information and clinical documents (BOE 15-11-02), we offer you, in writing and in an understandable manner, information about HYALURONIC ACID IMPLANTS. However, said information has already been concisely and orally provided to you by the undersigned doctor, who also, and at your request, has addressed all your questions, as well as those related to the treatment. This document is just the graphic transcription of said information, to help you understand it and motivate a thoughtful and deliberate authorization.

It is important that you read this information carefully and in its entirety. Please sign or put your initials on every page, thus indicating that you have read and signed the consent document for the procedure recommended by your doctor.

I HEREBY STATE:

That I REQUEST AND AUTHORIZE Doctor _____
_____, graduated in Medicine and Surgery, with medical license number _____, to perform upon me a treatment known as HYALURONIC ACID IMPLANTS, having chosen this instead of the alternatives, namely

I have been informed about, and I accept, the commonly known risks of premedication, anesthesia and/or the treatment to be performed.

I CONSENT, if needed, to the administration of local or topical anesthesia by, or under the direction of, Dr. _____.

I KNOW and ACCEPT the physician's professional training to perform this treatment.

The substances and machines involved have been authorized for use in aesthetic medicine, and show the CE brand and its corresponding sanitary registration number.

I CONFIRM that the treatment mentioned above has been fully explained to me by the physician in words I can understand, including typical risks involved, undesired effects, the risks specific to me, and also discomfort or, occasionally, pain I may feel with normal post-treatment. I have also been told about other options available in the market, together with pros and cons of each one. Taking this into account, I have chosen the treatment described above.

I have also been informed, in terms of probability, about the results of the procedure according to references from comparative scientific literature, and the professional's previous experience executing these procedures.

BRIEF EXPLANATION OF THE TREATMENT:

Hyaluronic acid is a substance present in the different tissues of every animal species, which is responsible for keeping skin elasticity. It also keeps skin moisturized, due to its ability to retain a high amount of water around it, increasing tissues' volume.

As a medical device, hyaluronic acid is a transparent, colorless, clear, non-pyrogenic, sterile gel bioimplant, consisting of intertwined hyaluronan molecules, which is subcutaneously injected in order to restore or correct unaesthetics, or congenital or acquired skin defects. Hyaluronic acid has been used since 1996 and can be of animal origin (cockscomb and fish eyeballs) or of biological origin (extracts of bacterial cultures, NASHA technology), which is the one currently used in aesthetic medicine (all injectable products for cosmetics may contain impurities to a greater or lesser extent). No allergy testing is required and, once injected, it naturally integrates in tissues, without altering the characteristics of the skin. It is a resorbable product, that is, it is degraded by the body until it disappears in a variable period of time. It has beneficial effects for the skin, such as greater hydration and volume to the dermis, as long as the effect of the implant lasts.

There are basically two types of hyaluronic acid: the non-reticulated type (similar to that naturally occurring in the skin; molecule binding is very light), indicated for deep skin hydration, but is not a filler and lasts a short time. And the reticulated type that, using chemical technology (BDDE or Vycross™) gets a hyaluronic acid with closer molecule binding and a thicker, more stable consistency, which works as a filler and lasts longer in the body, depending on the brand, indication and type chosen (molecular weight, mono or biphasic, density, etc.).

Hyaluronic acid has an antidote known as hyaluronidase that can be used if several adverse effects occur.

In this case, the product is (brand) _____, batch (paste label).

After first treatment, one or more additional injections of hyaluronic acid may be necessary to achieve the desired level of correction. However, do not inject repeatedly in the same area (up to 2-3 days with one-month intervals). Once the product has been resorbed, to maintain the correction, it will be necessary to repeat injections after some time (after 6-24 months). The interval and frequency of more injections vary based on the type of hyaluronic acid and depend on several factors, like treated area, type of skin, injection technique, lifestyle (sun exposure and smoking), and especially based on the composition and brand of the injected product.

Treatment is performed without anesthesia or with topical or local anesthesia.

I ACCEPT that there may be RISKS AND COMPLICATIONS described by medical science as inherent to this kind of treatment. These include:

- Short-term risks: Pain, erythema, hematomas, edemas or inflammation that will usually resolve in a short period of time without the need to be treated. To prevent them, I have been told to avoid taking anticoagulants and Vitamin E a few days prior to treatment. Allergic reactions (including angioedema, which must be treated immediately by the physician), paresthesias, transitory whitening of the skin (requiring treatment with hyaluronidase), nodules, granulomatous reaction, infection, herpes, which must be treated properly, especially if they persist for more than a week. Asymmetries. The most serious complication described is arterial vascular occlusion, requiring, among other actions, an immediate injection of hyaluronidase to prevent necrosis and its sequelae.
- Long-term or delayed risks: Insufficient or excessive result, immunological reaction to the local or at-a-distance product, nodules, migration, pain, 0.02-1% granulomas, according to literature (reaction to a foreign body), necrosis, skin thickening, cyclic or regular swelling of lips or areas infiltrated coinciding with menstrual periods, temporary or permanent skin pigmentation alterations, postponed infections, etc.
- Risks and complications that can be attributed to the anesthetic procedure (topical or local).

CONTRAINDICATIONS: Known allergy to hyaluronic acid or to any of the excipients of the product, serious or decompensated diseases, certain autoimmune diseases (the doctor will rule out which ones: scleroderma, etc.) or with immune therapy, intake of immunosuppressive medications, active infection in the area, decompensated diabetes, history of abnormal scarring, previous permanent implants in the area, gestation, lactation and individuals under 18 years old.

AFTER TREATMENT, I have been recommended to apply ice, avoid abrupt movements in the area (gestures, very hard foods), massages in the area, alcohol intake and wearing makeup until at least 12 hours after treatment, direct exposure to the sun or UVA radiation, saunas and steam baths, abrupt changes in temperature, practicing strenuous exercise, and leaning on the area treated.

I HAVE BEEN INFORMED that the treatment consists of one session, with one review and retouching, if appropriate, 4 weeks later. The amount of the product necessary to obtain the desired effect is only illustrative, being impossible to know the exact amount in advance, because each patient's reaction is different. If I want more of the product than what was originally arranged, I must be previously informed. The approximate duration of the product is indicated in the manufacturer's package insert, in this case _____, although I acknowledge that my personal circumstances could cause a variation within the time frame of _____.

I have been correctly informed, even in writing (information documents) and/or using images, about this treatment's characteristics: its fundamentals, the manner and details of its execution, its action mechanisms, its immediate effects, the process and evolution of the necessary supplementary treatments to observe in the following days, weeks or months, the cares and precautions to adopt in the following hours or days, the variability of the time necessary to fully recover; therefore, I acknowledge that no guarantee can be given to me as to the date when I can resume my regular activities (emotional, social, work and sports).

I ATTEST I have not left out or altered any data when showing my surgical medical history and records, especially those concerning allergies and diseases or personal risks.

The Medical History and results from tests performed on the patient don't advise against using the appropriate medical procedure when there isn't, a priori, any risks that may have determined the failure of the technique objectively considered, and which means to meet your expectations.

I RECOGNIZE that, during the treatment, unforeseen conditions or those already mentioned may necessitate different procedures than those described above. Therefore, I hereby expressly authorize said procedures, including an injection of hyaluronidase with no prior allergy testing in case of an emergency, and my transfer to a hospital center. In case of complications during the treatment, I authorize the Hospital to request the assistance they deem necessary from other specialists, in their best professional judgment.

Better results can be obtained if the treatment performed is supplemented with other treatments that will improve its effects (like botulinum toxin, peeling and others).

If, during treatment, the healthcare staff was accidentally exposed to my blood, according to the principles of good medical practice I have been informed of the need to perform the proper analytical determinations on my blood, related to potential pathologies of blood transmission, to adopt the most suitable preventive measures.

I AGREE to do my best to follow the doctor's instructions to the letter before, during and after the treatment mentioned above. I take responsibility for complying with post treatment measures recommended by the Hospital, as well as attending control visits suggested by the doctor.

I UNDERSTAND that the goal of the treatment is to improve my appearance, with the possibility that some imperfection remains and that the result may not be what I expected. In this sense, I have been informed that the aesthetic result of the treatment depends on factors like how easily you scar, and the formation or non-formation of keloids. I am aware that the medical field is not an exact science, and that absolute perfection cannot be guaranteed. I understand the result may not be as expected and acknowledge that I haven't been given any guarantee at all.

Medical action might not end in itself, and subsequent treatment action might be necessary to reach the goal you're consenting to.

The cost of the treatment includes several charges for the services provided. The total includes your doctor's fees and the cost of materials, equipment or product. The charges for this procedure don't include possible future costs for additional procedures of your choice, or that you require to review, optimize or complete your result. There may be additional charges due to complications arising from the treatment. Charges for secondary treatments concerning check-ups and charges that haven't been previously arranged will also be your responsibility. By signing the consent for this procedure, you acknowledge you have been informed about its risks and consequences and take responsibility for the medical decisions made, together with the economical costs of any future treatments.

I AUTHORIZE the taking of photographs and videos for an appropriate diagnostic evaluation, and for the control of the assessment and results. I also authorize the taking of photographs of the operated area for scientific, educational or clinical purposes, and I understand that their use is not a violation of privacy or confidentiality, rights to which I am entitled.

I KNOW my data will be treated in an automated manner, which I have authorized after my rights have been explained to me pursuant to the LOPD (Spanish Organic Act on Data Protection) in force: rights of access, rectification, cancellation and objection established by the Act, and after expressing I can address the Clinic in writing, notwithstanding the provisions of Section 8 of the Act about health-related data. With my signature, I give my express consent for my personal data to be handled by the CLINIC for their own purposes.

I am aware that my signature and this consent don't assume any kind of waiver to future claims, both clinical and legal. I am also aware that I can withdraw my signature from this consent at any time prior to the execution of the treatment.

I have clarified any doubts about everything that has been mentioned above, and I fully understand this CONSENT DOCUMENT, standing by each and all of its points; by signing the document, I ratify and consent to the execution of the treatment.
